I have been establishing my practice in glass for several years, making mainly kiln formed pieces. I am fascinated by the properties of glass (liquid and solid) and am inspired by its colour and texture. I have previously provided pieces for local charity auctions and exhibited in the pop up exhibition at the combined Australian and New Zealand glass art conference (Co-Lab) in Whanganui in February 2019.

When I am not making glass, I am a public servant, with a busy family life.
